Our business and organisational structure

Drawing on our deep industry expertise, Talbot develops tailored insurance solutions that address clients' evolving and often unique needs.

We are part of the wider AIG Group, and our ultimate parent company is American International Group, Inc., which is incorporated in the State of Delaware, United States of America and is a leading global insurance provider.

Our supply chains

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business and expect parties in our supply chain to adhere to these values. Given the nature of our business, we consider the risk of modern slavery in our supply chain to be low. Our suppliers provide goods and services supporting our insurance business such as claims handling, legal services, data processing, IT services, IT hardware and software, advisory services, consultancy, investment management and facilities management. All our suppliers are expected to comply fully with all local and national laws and regulations.

Supplier due diligence

Our suppliers are procured in accordance with our Outsourcing and Procurement Policy which uses a risk-based approach in ensuring appropriate due diligence and oversight is carried out. Where particular risk has been identified, we undertake enhanced due diligence covering that specific risk. Where we perceive a higher potential risk of modern slavery, we require a statement confirming compliance with the requirements of the Act. Our agreements with vendors generally mandate compliance with the Act. As at the date of this Statement, we have not identified evidence of, or received any disclosure in relation to, modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains. However, we continue to monitor our supply chains and examine any risks identified.

Our policies

We expect all employees, temporary employees, contract workers, officers and directors to uphold our core values of trust and ethical business behaviour. This is reinforced by various policies including our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, which all employees certify compliance with annually, which reflects our commitments to foster an inclusive, fair and respectful workplace whilst contributing to our communities as part of meeting our obligations as corporate citizens. As a member of the AIG Group, our suppliers are required to adhere to the AIG Supplier Code of Conduct, which sets out the standards suppliers must adhere to. Specifically, it explicitly requires that suppliers must take steps to ensure that no form of modern slavery exists in their supply chains or business organisations.

TRAINING

We launched training on Modern Slavery and Human Trafficking in the first quarter of 2026 (for the 2025 Financial Year) to all relevant employees as part of our compulsory internal training programme. This training was developed in conjunction with a specialist e-learning provider and was delivered to Talbot employees (and other employees of UK affiliates) who are directly involved in third-party vendor procurement activities.

Relevant employees are required to refresh their knowledge on modern slavery and human trafficking by completing modern slavery and human trafficking training every two years.

Employees

We conduct pre-employment screening checks on prospective employees and each of our employees receives a salary which exceeds the National Living Wage.

Our internal policies ensure that employees are safeguarded and we provide training to managers to prevent bullying and harassment in the workplace. Furthermore, we have procedures in place to protect whistleblowers. This statement is made available to all of our staff members and included within our joining materials for our new employees.

Steps taken

During this financial year continued monitoring of our suppliers where we perceived a higher risk of modern slavery took place. We found no issues of concern. As part of our Operational Resilience, we continue to enhance our view of the inherent risks within our supply chain and wider third-party population.
